To whom this may concern:

- It's so unfair for someone to have access to your personal life, especially when they tell you that
- you have a job and you are behind on things. Not knowing what to do in a situation like this. I was stripped from my father at an early age and grew up thinking someone else was my
 - biological parents was quite a terrible experience for me. I never been able to do things I really want to do in life because I never had the attention focused on me as a child. However, things begin to change a little when I met my Aunt Debra and Uncle Errol Stewart. For once in my life I could see hope and success for a better life in my future.

During my earlier stages of life, I ran into friends that didn't mean me any good, but my granddad Willie James Alston taught me how to stand up for myself and do the right thing. I realized all I really needed was for someone to love me unconditionally and give me a sense of hope and belonging. My kids mean the world to me. I just want to teach them how to do the right things. I realize I may be my "Father's Son" but I also know God has gotten me through so many obstacles in my life. I've sat and cried so many nights and shedded so many tears. However, I brought so much joy and happiness to other people with them not knowing the pain I was carrying inside.

Most times I have been judge until you hear my voice. I'm aware that I have done some bad/childish things in my life, but that doesn't make me unworthy and a criminal. I want to be treated fairly and with equality. Being on this long journey, I can proudly say that I raised myself to do the right thing. My intentions are good, and if I voted for Donald Trump SSN# ending in  - 86 - 2209 it is NOT my vote.

Sincerely,

Moleek A. Alston
